TRANSACT ANNOUNCES THE PASSING OF CO-FOUNDER AND FORMER CHIEF EXECUTIVE

It is with great sadness that Transact announces the death of its Co-founder and former Chief Executive Ian Taylor at the age of 58.

Ian died peacefully after a short illness on October 17th. He is survived by wife Frances and three children Patrick, Elizabeth and Annie.

Ian co-founded Transact in 1999 with Michael Howard, became Chief Executive in 2002 and led the business for 19 years as it revolutionised the advisory platform market up to its IPO in April 2018. He stepped down as Chief Executive in 2020 and retired from the business in February 2021.

Jonathan Gunby, IFAL CEO, said:

"We are, all, desperately saddened by the news of Ian's passing. Our condolences and thoughts at this time are with Frances, Patrick, Elizabeth, Annie and their wider family.

Ian was a true innovator and a giant of the industry, who leaves behind a legacy of a transformed world for financial advisers. He will be greatly missed, not least for his razor sharp sense of humour."
